

Girls into Science - UNICEF

The overall aim of this module is to help reduce gender disparities in the field of science and technology in Africa as well as to provide women with the possibility of embarking upon science careers in the quest of self-dependence and poverty reduction.

To read full article click here